

BIO

Emmy-award winning journalist Kate Delaney has interviewed more than 15,000 people, including U.S. presidents, top CEOs and Hall of Fame athletes. As a woman hosting a nightly sports radio talk show, she became a pioneer in broadcasting.

In addition to her popular speaking engagements, Kate is a nationally-syndicated radio host. Every week you can catch her Forbes Books Radio segment showcasing movers and shakers in the business world.

She's the author of two popular books. Level the Playing Field (2011) and Invade the Man Cave (2016). Coming out in 2018 her Forbes book, Deal Your Own Destiny: Increase Your Odds, Win BIG and Become Extraordinary. In January of 2018 Kate gave a TED style talk at the Forbes Insider's Summit.

A successful business owner, she's most proud of working with the Texas Rangers baseball club on closing a $25 million radio rights deal for CBS radio when she worked as Executive Sports Director. The speaker has served as a keynoter for companies such as: Deloitte, Stanley Oil and Gas, Forbes, UPS, Fox, AT&T, Cisco, and Exxon/Mobil, Kraft and many more.

Kate is the Past President of the National Speakers Association in North Texas and serves on the advisory board of the Dallas Network Bar. DNB is millionaire Phil Romano high tech members-only Professional network hub.

Kate also went to school in Spain while in college where she developed an addiction to Paella.